EBCTV News...

In an ongoing effort to improve the picture quality on EBCTV Public Access Channel 9 and Educational Channel 98, Comcast Technicians have been busy the past two weeks. Jay, Todd and Eric spent 3 ½ hours in the freezing cold Friday before last at the Middle School correcting the video problems at the Middle School so that the upcoming East Bridgewater Town Meeting will have a clean video and audio signal. Todd and Jay also assisted with the installation of a more advanced Modulator at EBCTV and De-Modulator at the Comcast Head End in an effort to further improve the picture quality on Channel 9. Jay also returned this past Friday during the snow storm to further adjust the newly installed equipment. Although the problem is not completely solved, EBCTV would like to thank the Comcast technicians for all their hard work these past few weeks. We will keep working at it to bring you the best possible video and audio signal on your Public and Educational Access Channels.

The arrival date for EBCTV's new Character Generator from Great Northern is this coming week. The unit will replace the nearly 20 year old Amiga Character generator currently in the EBCTV Control room. The new machine has over 400,000 art objects, 3,000 different types of fonts, 300 backgrounds and 100 textures. This unit will dramatically improve the graphics for TV show produced in our studio like "All Politics is Local" and the Bi-weekly School Committee Meetings. EBCTV had a demonstration of the new character generator system and the machine is also extremely user friendly, which means our producers should love it! EBCTV is hoping to have it installed and operational in time for this Thursday's School Committee Meeting. Here a look at the unit:

The EBCTV Board of Directors has scheduled its next Meeting for Friday, March 7th at 7 pm at EBCTV's Studio located within East Bridgewater High School on the first floor. As always the public is welcome to attend.

This isn't quite EBCTV News but this Past Friday's Snow Storm meant that many people were preparing for the worst. East Bridgewater's Department of Public Works Crews were no different. They gathered together their troops, as if preparing for a massive battle, prior to the beginning of the storm. EBCTV Salutes the hard working members of the snow plows for keeping our streets safe to drive on! Keep up the good work folks! J

EBHS-EBCTV Club Activities...

THE MOOSE IS ON BACK ON THE LOOSE! The Club met this past week on Tuesday during School vacation to write, produce and create a series of Anti-Smoking Public Service Announcements. On Wednesday, Club members met again to shoot and act within the PSA's. The club managed to shoot two full Public Service Announcements within a 3-hour period. The Club should be proud they accomplished so much in such a short time period.

Here are some pictures of recent EBCTV Club Productions:

Kenny volunteered to act as the “Student Under Arrest” in one of the Public Service Announcements and can now say that he has been somewhere most folks have never been, the back seat of a Police Car.

Sponsors Wanted...

Welcome to a new section of the EBCTV E-News. In this section we will post information about Public, Educational, and Government Access Shows Produced at other Access Facilities. The Producers of these shows (historically known as "Bicycled Tapes") are looking for local residents of East Bridgewater, who are members of EBCTV, to sponsor their shows.

No MONEY is involved in sponsoring a show. IT'S FREE! Sponsorship simply means that the resident is willing to become the local contact for THAT program and, if necessary, arrange for pick up or delivery of disc's to EBCTV. One caveat, sponsors are legally responsible for the content of the show they are sponsoring but don't let this scare you. There are already tons of shows being sponsored on EBCTV such as: Physician Focus, Pet Zone, Army Newswatch, Pure Heart Clear Mind and so on... Here is a show looking for a sponsor:

There are no new shows requesting sponsorship at this time. Stay tune to this email for future programs!

So don't let that part scare you. If you're not sure whether you want to sponsor a show then simply ask the producer to give you/mail you a copy of the show so that you can preview it before you decide. It's a fun way of being active at EBCTV and getting the types of shows you want to see on YOUR Community Access Station.

VOLUNTEER EDITORS ALWAYS NEEDED!!!!

East Bridgewater Community Television WANTS YOU! Are you a trained Non-Linear Editor with nothing to work on? Well here's your chance to get involved! EBCTV has tons of projects looking for editors to finish them. Help out your fellow producers! Contact Russ to see the list of projects now underway!

PUBLIC, EDUCATIONAL & GOVERNMENT ACCESS TELEVISION:

The Never-Ending Cable-Telco War Heats Up

Posted by Carl Weinschenk on February 14, 2008

Verizon and the cable industry are going after each other in intense fashion on the technology, marketing and legal fronts. The latest salvo was launched Monday. Comcast, Time Warner Cable and Bright House Networks filed a suit against the telco, claiming violations of two sections of the Communications Act. The complaint stems from the way customers move from one provider to another. When a company signs a customer, the new provider files documentation to set up the switch. The cable operators claim Verizon is inappropriately using this data to reach out to convince customers to cancel the switch.

That's not the only reason that Verizon and cable companies will be paying lawyers to fight with each other. Verizon has filed a suit against Charter for infringing eight VoIP patents. Last month, the telco sued Cox in a similar vane. Silicon Alley Insider points out that at least some of the patents cover the same technology as those Verizon successfully sued Vonage for infringing. The piece also notes that the cable industry's voice services all are based on PacketCable technology developed by Cable Television Laboratories Inc. (CableLabs). Thus, successfully proving that one cable company infringed the patent will be bad news for all the operators.

This commentary at Michigan Telephone, VoIP and Broadband Blog suggests that the telco may not have as easy a time as it did against Vonage. The cable industry simply is a more formidable foe than the standalone VoIP provider. The writer's point that the cable companies will stick together does not even mention the fact that they use the same technology and that all would be grievously hurt if one lost in court. The writer also points out that the cable industry may fare better in the legal system than before the FCC, which he says has favored telcos in recent years.

The action is heated simply because there is so much at stake. The battle to provide services to the small community of Haverhill, Mass., of course won't tip the scales too far in favor of Verizon or Comcast. But it is a good illustration of the hand-to-hand combat that is ongoing across the United States. In Haverhill, this Eagle Tribune story says, Comcast has been the franchise-holder for a decade. The agreement has five months to run, and the city is negotiating a new deal. However, the city is also talking about inviting in Verizon, which serves the neighboring communities of Metuchen and West Newbury. The story says Comcast serves 238 communities and Verizon has 1.6 million broadband customers in the Bay State.

Massachusetts also is the jumping off point for this Cable Digital News look at the overall cable versus telco dynamic. The story does a good job of dissecting the numbers. In 2007, recently released figures from the Massachusetts Department of Telecommunications and Cable (MDTC) show, Verizon added 66,561 FiOS television customers, bringing its total to 78,544. That's a big gain, but most of the pain apparently was felt by direct broadcast satellite (DBS) companies. Comcast lost only 4,586 video customers. The key fact: Comcast lost 28,762 video subscribers in regions where FiOS was available, but gained 24,176 where it was not.

The story says that the trend lines bode well for the cable industry for two reasons. On one hand, telco fiber projects such as FiOS and AT&T's U-Verse are rolling out slowly (they will be available to only 40 percent of the nation by the end of 2010). Telcos also are trading down, because the voice customers they are losing to cable are higher margin than the video customers they are taking away, according to investment bank Sanford C. Bernstein & Co. Inc.
